17 SPORTS
11 DAYS
1 PLACE TO BE

I’ve looked forward to this moment for many years. One of the world’s greatest sporting competitions on home soil. The Commonwealth’s best athletes – many returning to the UK after remarkable achievements at the London 2012 Olympic and Paralympic Games – battling for medal glory across 17 sports and 11 days of competition.

The Commonwealth Games is a very special event, and has a special place in my heart. Winning Gold for Scotland at Manchester 2002 and Melbourne 2006 were incredibly proud, emotional moments for me. With passionate home crowds, I know that the athletes competing for Team Scotland are in for a life-changing experience.

Put simply, your cheers and support could mean the difference between Silver and Gold. And with around a million tickets up for grabs, there will be something for everyone.

All the people involved with Glasgow 2014 want the venues to be filled with enthusiastic fans – and I’m proud to be an ambassador for the Games. I’m particularly happy that there are special half-price tickets for under-16s and over-60s. Getting young people involved in and inspired by sport is something I’ll always be committed to.

On behalf of Glasgow 2014 and its partners, we thank you for all your support so far – and look forward to receiving your ticket application and seeing you next summer.

Ticket sales open from 19 August to 16 September. Let’s go!

Sir Chris Hoy
Glasgow 2014 Ambassador
An accessible Games
We’re making our venues, communications and services as accessible as possible, to make sure everyone has a great Games experience.

Our Accessible Ticketing Policy demonstrates our commitment to ensuring under-represented groups can access the Games.

Accessible tickets are priced in the lowest price category for the session. A personal assistant ticket is included in the price of an accessible ticket.

You can tell us about your accessibility support requirements when you apply for tickets. You can request tickets for accompanying family and friends on your application form.

Tickets for accompanying family and friends will be allocated as close to accessible seats as possible.

No booking fees, and the cost of your ticket includes public transport in the local area on the day of your session.

Starting price of all tickets for all sports: £15

Two-thirds of all sports tickets: £25 and under

Half-price tickets for under-16s and over-60s start from: £7.50

Like all previous Commonwealth Games, Glasgow 2014 will run a fair and simple application process to ensure everyone has an equal chance of getting tickets.

It makes no difference whether you apply for tickets on the first day, last day, or anytime in between.

Where we’re inundated with ticket applications for particular sport sessions – like the 100m Track final – we’ll run a fair, simple draw. It’ll be completely impartial, selecting people from across all the applications received.

You apply for the tickets you want. It’s not a lucky dip – if you’ve requested tickets for Netball you won’t be given tickets for Table Tennis.

If you ask for four tickets, you will either be successful or unsuccessful in your application for four tickets. You will not be offered one, two or three tickets.

We’ll contact you by email with a summary of your tickets before any payment is taken.

You’ll get a second chance to buy any remaining tickets before they’re made available for further sale in late October.

At a glance

19 August: tickets on sale.

04 16 weeks to apply for the sports and sessions you want.

16 September: application period closes.

Starting price of all tickets for all sports: £15

Two-thirds of all sports tickets: £25 and under

Half-price tickets for under-16s and over-60s start from: £7.50

No booking fees, and the cost of your ticket includes public transport in the local area on the day of your session.

Aquatics

Diving
With nerves of steel, the divers rule the roost up near the rafters.

They stand perfectly still on the platform. With eyes closed, they’re visualising the dive they’re about to perform.

It lasts fractions of a second but it’ll blow you away. With acrobatic skill and precision the divers twist, turn and soar over the water.

Everything counts in the battle for points – the starting position, the take-off, the flight and the entry.

Will they glide under the surface without raising a ripple?

Swimming

The first thing that hits you is the heat and familiar smell of the pool. Then it’s the wall of noise bouncing off the tiles.

At the centre of everything is a glistening 50 metre stretch of blue, where records will be broken and medals won.

The swimmers line up. They’re wearing caps, goggles and suits that fit like a second skin. Look at the shoulders. These are swimming machines.

Water droplets sparkle and fly as the swimmers cut through the water. Lungs work like bellows and limbs power them forward. The lead is won, lost and reclaimed as they surge ahead, reaching for the finish.

The crowd is on its feet, cheering as one. With nail-biting finishes that’ll leave you breathless, the swimming competition is one of the hottest tickets in town.

Thousands of people are holding their breath. On your marks and get set are history. Go is about to happen. When it does, those same people will cheer louder than they’ve ever done before. Welcome to the Athletics competition.

In July 2014, Hampden Stadium will become a modern-day amphitheatre. The Commonwealth’s greatest athletes will battle it out for medals and glory. You can be part of their story.

This is one of sport’s greatest spectacles. These are the people who’re aiming to run faster, jump higher and throw further than anyone else. Underdogs rub shoulders with champions. Rivals resume old feuds. A lifetime of training comes down to one moment.

“The Commonwealth Games title is the only one I don’t have. I need to get that title.”
– Usain Bolt

Everyone has a favourite event. It might be watching the discus throwers spin then let loose. Marvelling at the marathon runners as they pound the streets of Glasgow. Urging the high jumpers to find a little more altitude, or rooting for the Para-Sport athletes as they power round the track.

You’ve got the chance to see all the drama of the Athletics competition up close. Get ready to watch history unfold.

Welcome to the fastest racquet sport on earth – where shuttlecocks fly at 300 kilometres an hour.

This fast and furious game will bring out the competitive streak in the mildest of temperaments. See how the players size up their opponent. They stare through the net and anticipate the serve. Will it lightly whisper over the net or will it hurtle to the back of the court? Prepare to watch in awe as trainers screech across the floor, racquets whip through the air and the shuttlecock clips the line.

This is a game of instinct and lightning-fast reactions. Without fitness, flexibility and fancy footwork, you’re done for.

Inside a six metre square ring, there’s nowhere to hide – and the boxers come prepared. Dodging and weaving, every jab seeks a target as they prowl around the ring. Strength counts, but only speed and a sixth sense can avoid those blows.

The coaches in the corner shout encouragement while the referee’s eyes remain fixed on the action. Two figures in gloves and gumshields continue to circle, sweat pouring and energy draining. The clamour of the crowd surrounds them and the lights blaze overhead.

Fired up by the electric atmosphere, names will be made and reputations won. With the Commonwealth Games debut of Women’s Boxing, it’s now an equal arena.

So will it be hard graft or a knockout punch that wins the crown? Either way, the crowd won’t let up until the referee raises one boxer’s arm in victory.

Mountain Bike
Watch them hurtle through grit, gravel and mud and pity whoever’s doing the laundry.

The Mountain Bike riders plunge downhill, power back up and navigate rocky terrain, shrugging off the wind, rain and whatever else Mother Nature throws at them.

They need endurance, technical prowess and spirit if they’re to champion the course. Flat tyres and falls threaten, but you can bet they’ll be taking no prisoners.

Road
The crowds lining the streets create a tunnel of noise. The riders flash through it, wheels spinning and eyes straight ahead.

Bunched up tight, the road cyclists move in a pack, awaiting their chance to go it alone.

They’ll be taking the tourist route through Glasgow, but forgive them if they don’t pause to admire the architecture. When you’re travelling at these speeds, all you can see is the finish line.

Track
With visors down, Lycra coating sculpted muscles and science fiction helmets buckled under chins, everything has been streamlined for speed. Welcome to the velodrome, where the human rocketships fly.

Round and round and round they go, orbiting the track at warp speed. All eyes follow these cycling powerhouses as the cheers reach a crescendo. Will the hours and hours of training pay off? Is a final burst of speed left in those legs?

04 core pieces of Rhythmic equipment.

2.8 metres between the Artistic high bar and the floor.

Artistic
They defy gravity. We look on in awe.

Bars, vault or pommel horse, it doesn’t matter what piece of equipment the gymnasts turn to – you know they’ll push their boundaries to conquer it.

Female athletes pirouette and somersault along the beam without batting an eyelid. Male athletes swing and hold on rings with astounding muscle strength. Both hurtle towards the vault without a trace of fear, ready to spring skywards and amaze us. Floorwork means controlled balance, revolutions in the air and accomplishing that perfect landing.

All the while we hold our breath and wonder how they do it.

Gymnastics is the ultimate in control, balance and perfect execution. This is strength wrapped up in grace. The gymnasts are like diamonds in the dark of the arena – sparkling and strong.

Rhythmic
Grace, skill and awe-inspiring flexibility: Rhythmic Gymnastics calls for all three.

Flawless control is essential as the gymnast rotates the hoop, rolls the ball, catches the clubs or snakes the ribbon. Always in motion, these specialist gymnasts own the floor.

This is gymnastics with added style. It’s not enough to show affinity with the apparatus; these athletes have to make their shapes flow as smoothly as silk. Musical multi-taskers, they balance, leap and pivot towards their medal.

“"To be able to compete for Team Scotland at Glasgow 2014 would be phenomenal. Hearing the home crowd cheering me on would make all the hard work and training worth it."" – Dan Keatings

Twenty-two players, 22 sticks, two umpires and one ball; put them together and you get 70 minutes of full-throttle sporting action. Guaranteed.

Fast, fierce and athletic, Hockey isn’t for the faint-hearted. Glasgow Green will be a battlefield where teams show off their tactics and their toughness. There’s a reason Hockey players wear shin pads and mouth guards.

For these athletes it’s about using the hockey stick to devastating effect: passing, shooting, scoring and stopping opponents from getting the ball. There’s no time to pause when the substitutes come on – in Hockey the action is non-stop. The players do everything they can to avoid the dreaded shoot-out competition, where one strike can seal a team’s fate.

The Commonwealth boasts some of the world’s best Hockey teams. With everything to play for over 11 days of competition, there’ll be scuffles, skirmishes and direct hits as teams fight for their place on the podium.

Hajime! The Judo contest is under way. The competitors are judoka. The mat is the tatami. The ultimate goal is ippon – it means instant victory if an athlete manages the perfect throw, stranglehold or armlock before the opponent twists away.

The two competitors size each other up. Neither is willing to give an inch. They’ve got five minutes to attack, defend, fight for dominance and score those all-important points. But it’s also a game of respect – note the bows when competitors enter and leave the mat.

Judo means ‘the gentle way’ but it’s dynamic and explosive. It’s chess-like tactics. It’s predicting the opponent’s moves and using their feints, size and bodyweight against them. Who will achieve the winning hold or throw – or end up the victim of their own moves?
Lawn Bowls

The magnificent Victorian architecture of Kelvingrove Art Gallery and Museum and the greenery of Kelvingrove Park provide a picture perfect backdrop. But don’t be misled by the serenity of the setting – the Lawn Bowls athletes are fired up and out to win.

With up to 30 rinks in play at any one time, Lawn Bowls calls for accuracy, nerve and strategy. The athletes wear a poker face as they survey the lie of the land. Judgement is everything.

The bowlers show incredible precision as they aim for the jack. The stakes rise and you could cut the tension with a knife. Just as the outcome looks inevitable, one team sends down a fast drive, the bowls smack and scatter and it’s game on again. In Lawn Bowls, it’s never predictable.

She shoots, she scores. She doesn’t slam-dunk.

Netball is a global sport with massive appeal — in New Zealand it’s drawn bigger TV audiences than the All Blacks. So what’s the attraction?

Netball is boisterous. Netball has pace. Netball is about making split-second decisions and dealing with the consequences. When a player gets the ball, they have three seconds to decide what to do with it. Watch as they pivot, looking for the perfect pass.

Shoes squeak as the action tears up and down the court. As the clock ticks onward, the sprints, interceptions and shots on goal get ever-faster. The volume rises and the pressure racks up. The final whistle gets closer and one thing’s for certain: the Netball players will make every move and every minute count.

Rugby Sevens

Born and bred in Scotland, Rugby Sevens is coming home.

This is rugby at lightning speed. Forget about the luxury of having 80 minutes to win a match. In Rugby Sevens, you get two teams of seven men with just 14 minutes to show what they’re made of.

Take a deep breath, because when the whistle blows, the action is going to come thick and fast.

Rugby Sevens takes strength, but the reduced numbers mean that pace and fast reactions are just as important. With the best teams in the world as contenders, you know the action is going to be top-flight.

The crowds create a party atmosphere while the athletes take care of business. You’ll marvel at their stamina as the passes, kicks and tries come in quick succession. Expect hard hits, lung-bursting sprints and points scored by the shovel-load.

The crack of the shot rings out. Has it hit the target?

The Shooting competition will take the Games out of the city to the dramatic east coast setting of Barry Buddon, near Carnoustie. Here the fresh water of the River Tay meets the sea, surrounded by windswept dunes. The striking location sets the tone for what promises to be a gripping competition.

Venue: Barry Buddon Shooting Centre, Carnoustie

Tickets from: £15 for a day ticket that includes all Shooting disciplines

Each shooting discipline has its own appeal and challenge. Clay Target athletes need spectacular aim to hit moving targets – a shattered clay showing a direct hit. Full Bore requires adaptability as well as precision for targets across a range of distances up to 1,000 yards. For Pistol and Small Bore, concentration and control are all-important to score those vital points.

Shooting is for experts. It’s not just one lucky shot. Consistency is everything in order to succeed.

Competitors must perform under pressure. When the tension’s building, can they deliver the goods? It’s a still hand and a steady nerve that results in the perfect shot. Every time.

The average table lives a predictable life. People serve dinner on it, read the papers at it and occasionally leave coffee cup stains on it. A Table Tennis table is a different breed. It exists under the spotlight, bare except for lines and a net, tough enough to withstand the onslaught of the players who’re battling across it.

Don’t call it ping pong, flim flam or wiff waff. Table Tennis might have originated as after-dinner entertainment but nowadays it is fast and furious. The players dance around the edges, agile, crouching and ready to spring. Watch as they whip the racket back and forth. One moment it’s a gentle breeze, the next it’s a hurricane.

Every stroke is perfectly judged and the players’ focus is absolute. If a Table Tennis match were a comic strip, you’d see a lot of ka-pows booming across the table. So pull up a seat and prepare yourself for a white-knuckle ride.

Triathlon

It’s got three acts, costume changes and plenty of drama, but this isn’t theatre. Triathlon uses the great outdoors as its stage; its players are the athletes, conquering the landscape as they swim, cycle and run towards the final curtain.

Don’t call triathletes good all-rounders. It doesn’t do them justice. These are athletes whose endurance and versatility places them firmly in the sporting elite.

It starts with open water swimming. The competitors don’t have the luxury of a lane each here – they need to find their own breathing space as they jostle through choppy waters.

Out of the water and it’s off with the wetsuits and onto the bikes for a gruelling cycle leg. These transitions are everything – seconds lost while putting on your shoes can have a devastating impact later in the race. Hardest of all is the last leg – the final run when reserves are at their lowest.

Expect 100% commitment. Triathlon is all about showing true grit.

#2014weightlifting

To win, just lift more than anyone else. Sounds straightforward? Not when you see the size of those weights.

The Weightlifting competitors are the strongmen and women of the Games. They show off muscles most of us didn’t even know existed.

Everything about these athletes radiates strength. Powerhouse legs, a steel core and arms like suspension cables. When the barbell is lifted you’ll see blood vessels bulge and cheeks puff out, swiftly followed by a roar of victory when things go to plan.

With eight bodyweight categories for men and seven for women, the weightlifters show their mettle on the snatch and the clean and jerk. And don’t miss the Para-Sport Powerlifting, with four Golds up for grabs.

The competition takes place in the belly of the Armadillo, where the athletes will follow in the footsteps of rock stars. Expect an atmosphere as lively as any concert as the crowd gets swept up in the contest to prove who’s the strongest of them all.

Throw away the script. This isn’t late night TV theatrics. This is the real deal – freestylers fusing raw power into a truly dramatic display of technical prowess.

Grapples, holds, throws and pins. You’ll see all of these played out on the mat when the Wrestling competition gets under way. These athletes don’t hold back – they just want to lock horns and get stuck in.

One minute they’re on their feet, the next they’re flying through the air. Locked in a vice-like grip or spread-eagled on the mat, scoring points is the end game.

14 weight categories and 14 Gold medals.

For full schedule see p71
You won’t find a separate Para-Sport schedule at Glasgow 2014. That’s because our Para-Sport programme is fully integrated, with 22 Gold medal events across five sports – the largest number in Commonwealth Games history.

Athletes including Paralympic and World Champions will be bringing world-class competition to Glasgow from over 20 nations, and adding Para-Sport medals to their home nation’s scoreboard.

Aquatics (Swimming): 6 medal events
- Women’s 100m Freestyle S8 and Men’s 200m Individual Medley S8M:
  Swimmers with severe restrictions in the joints of the lower limbs or who have lost either both hands or one arm.
- Men’s 100m Freestyle S9 and Women’s 100m Breaststroke S9:
  Swimmers with joint restrictions in one leg, double below-the-knee amputations or an amputation of one leg.
- Men’s 200m Freestyle S14:
  Swimmers with an intellectual impairment.
- Women’s 200m Individual Medley SM10:
  Swimmers with minimal physical impairments.

Athletics: 6 medal events
- Women’s Long Jump F37/38:
  Athletes with cerebral palsy.
- Men’s Discus Throw F42/44:
  Athletes with leg deficiencies, such as amputations.
- Women’s 100m T12:
  Athletes with visual impairment (who may choose to run with a guide).
- Men’s 100m T37:
  Athletes with cerebral palsy.
- Women’s and Men’s 1500m T54:
  Athletes competing in a wheelchair.

Cycling: 4 medal events
- Women’s and Men’s B Tandem 1000m Time Trial and Sprint:
  Visually impaired cyclists riding a tandem bike, with a sighted pilot at the front responsible for steering.

Lawn Bowls: 2 medal events
- Mixed Pairs B2/B3:
  Bowlers with a visual impairment.
- Open Triples B6/B7/B8:
  Bowlers with a physical impairment.

Para-Sport Powerlifting: 4 medal events
- Women’s and Men’s Lightweight and Heavyweight categories:
  Athletes with a lower leg or hip impairment, who compete together with no specific classification. The weights they benchpress, compared with bodyweight, decide the medal wins.

The Glasgow 2014 Ceremonies

On 23 July 2014, we’ll welcome thousands of spectators and athletes and hundreds of millions of viewers to Glasgow for the XX Commonwealth Games. It will be a day – and an Opening Ceremony – to remember. The largest, most prestigious live show Glasgow and Scotland have ever seen.

With the world holding its breath, we’ll reintroduce ourselves to the Commonwealth family and show everyone what we’re made of. Most importantly, we’ll celebrate what we all have in common – the true spirit of unity in diversity.

There will be spectacular moments. Audacious, visual, musical, theatrical moments. There will be uplifting and surprising ones too: the Parade of Nations, the Competitors’ Oath, the epic finale to the Queen’s Baton Relay.

And then, at long last, the Games will begin.

Eleven days later, on 3 August, we’ll get together again for a Closing Ceremony to celebrate all we’ve achieved and hand over to the Gold Coast 2018 Commonwealth Games. As we say our goodbyes, we’ll show the world that Glasgow knows a thing or two about throwing a great party.

Venue:
Opening Ceremony: Celtic Park
Closing Ceremony: Hampden Park

Tickets from:
£40 (Opening Ceremony)
£30 (Closing Ceremony)

Festival 2014

It’s not just about sport. Culture 2014 is a national celebration of the countdown to the Games. With a series of special events leading up to and marking the journey of the Queen’s Baton Relay through Scotland, it culminates at Games Time with Glasgow’s exciting Festival 2014.

Glasgow is a vibrant city, world renowned for culture. Its international community of artists, musicians, writers and performers will bring the city’s streets and stages alive. Its galleries, parks and concert halls will create an incredible backdrop for Games Time celebrations.

Showcasing the very best of arts and entertainment from Glasgow, Scotland and the Commonwealth, Festival 2014 is an unmissable part of your Games experience.

It’s the biggest party that Glasgow’s ever thrown – and everyone’s invited!

The Queen’s Baton Relay

The Queen’s Baton Relay is a much-loved tradition of the Commonwealth Games – and it’s a journey like no other. On 9 October 2013, at Buckingham Palace, Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II will place Her message to the Commonwealth inside the baton. Then from Glasgow it will depart for India, Host Nation of the Delhi 2010 Commonwealth Games.

Over 288 days the baton will travel more than a hundred thousand miles, visiting all 71 nations and territories of the Commonwealth. It will be carried by thousands of batonbearers on its epic journey, all chosen or nominated by their own country to participate.

On its final leg, the baton will travel the length and breadth of Scotland on the way to its ultimate destination – the Opening Ceremony.

Its journey across continents, terrains and time-zones carries and delivers a powerful message at home and abroad – a message read aloud by The Queen at the ceremony to declare the Games open.

Follow the baton:

The Opening Ceremony is the official starting point of the Commonwealth Games, but the invitation to the athletes and people of the Commonwealth goes out 288 days earlier.

Glasgow

Recently named by TripAdvisor as ‘Travellers’ Choice Destination on the Rise’, Glasgow is a stylish, friendly and exciting city – the perfect host for Scotland’s biggest ever party.

With many Games venues in walking distance of the city’s famous George Square, you’ll be immersed in sport and culture from the moment you arrive.

Glasgow is a city of world-class, free-entry museums and galleries, including the grand Kelvingrove Art Gallery & Museum and the award-winning Riverside Museum. It’s also the largest retail centre in the UK outside London, its Style Mile offering everything from designer finds to high street favourites.

Glasgow is packed with hidden surprises – from the tiny independent shops and restaurants tucked in the West End’s lanes to the beautiful Victorian parks which bejewel the city.

Don’t forget to look upwards. That’s where the city’s stunning architectural history is strongest. Marvel at the innovation of Charles Rennie Mackintosh’s Art Nouveau designs, which include the Glasgow School of Art and the Mackintosh House. And look out for the work of Alexander ‘Greek’ Thomson, whose distinctive neoclassical footprint stamps landmark buildings through the city’s centre and suburbs.

Whichever side of the city you explore, you’re guaranteed a warm Glasgow welcome.

Scotland

This is a country with breathtaking landscapes, historic castles and world-renowned food and drink – and much of it is on Glasgow’s doorstep.

History past and present is all around. A ferry ride takes you to the isle of Arran, where the dramatic mountains and coastlines are described as ‘Scotland in miniature’. A short drive finds you surrounded by the romance of Loch Lomond and the bracing beauty of the walkers’ favourite, the West Highland Way.

A fast train trip from Glasgow will let you explore Edinburgh’s Castle, Royal Mile and famous hidden 17th century alleyways. If you’re time to meander, the West Highland line will take you to Mallaig on what’s widely regarded as one of the most beautiful train journeys on the planet.

Travel a little further afield and you’ll discover Highland crofts and Renaissance palaces, classical pleasure gardens and almost 800 islands.

As Scotland welcomes the world in 2014, there’s no better time to visit. With the Commonwealth Games, the Ryder Cup and the Year of Homecoming’s packed programme of events and festivals upcoming, it’s sure to be a year of unforgettable moments.

The Glasgow 2014 venues range from those with a long and celebrated sporting history to facilities that are cutting-edge, shiny and new. All offer a superb platform for competition, providing spectators and athletes with a world-class Games Time experience and leaving a lasting legacy for local communities.
Travelling here
Glasgow is comprehensively served by rail, air and road. Glasgow Airport, 20 minutes from the city centre, is served by over 20 airlines providing more than 100 direct connections, and Edinburgh and Prestwick airports are also conveniently located. For full information on travelling to Glasgow and the rest of Scotland, visit: seeglasgow.com/getting-here

Getting around
The majority of our Glasgow venues are within walking and cycling distance of the city centre. In many cases at Games Time, walking or cycling will be the quickest and most reliable way to access our venues. There will be cycle parking at all venues, subject to availability on the day.

Parking
With the exception of accessible parking provided where possible, no parking will be available for spectators at the majority of our venues. Spectators are encouraged to walk, cycle or use public transport to access venues. Park and Ride services will be available for some larger venues. More details will be made available in 2014.

Accessibility
Accessible transport services will be available at each venue for spectators with a disability or impairment and their families or carers. Where possible, blue badge parking will be made available at specified locations.

Glasgow 2014’s partnership with UNICEF and the Commonwealth Games Federation uses sport and culture to transform children’s lives in Scotland and throughout the Commonwealth. By choosing to donate just £1, £3 or £5 with your Glasgow 2014 ticket application, you will help inspire and enable every child in Scotland and children right across the Commonwealth to be the best they can be.

UNICEF, the world’s leading children’s organisation, works to promote the rights of every child to health care, water, nutrition, education and protection, with a focus on the most vulnerable and disadvantaged. In Scotland, UNICEF UK has child rights education campaigns in schools, health settings and local government.

By helping Glasgow 2014 raise funds for UNICEF’s work in Commonwealth countries around the world, you’ll make a direct contribution to the local and international legacy of the Games.

FAQs

How does the programme work?

The XX Commonwealth Games Sport programme takes place over 11 days. Each day is broken down into smaller ‘sessions’. During some sessions, medal winners will be decided and/or the medals awarded at a Medal Ceremony. Your ticket entitles you to watch every competition taking place within your chosen session.

Can I choose seats?

Your application is for tickets in a particular price category rather than for specific seats, as seating plans will not be finalised until 2014. Most sessions have tickets available in more than one price category.

What does the difference in the price categories mean?

A ticket in price category 1 will provide a better view of the field of play than a ticket in price category 3 in the same session and venue. All price categories offer a great Games experience.

Can I get a concession price?

Concessionary prices are available for those under 16 or over 60 on 23 July 2014. Children under two years of age will be considered as ‘babes in arms’ and will not require a ticket.

Are wheelchair tickets available?

Wheelchair and Easy Access tickets are available at all sessions and are priced per the lowest price category for each session. Any person with a disability or impairment requiring a personal assistant may request a Personal Assistant seat, at no extra charge, when applying for tickets.

How can I apply for tickets if I am a member of UK Armed Forces with a BFPO address?

Personnel with a British Forces Post Office (BFPO) address should complete the required fields in the address section on the application form as:

Address: your Service Number, Rank and Name
Town/City: your Unit Regiment, your Operation Name and your BFPO Number
Postcode: your postcode
Country: BFPO

What happens when there are more applications than tickets?

For sessions where the demand for tickets exceeds availability, Glasgow 2014 will use a fair and simple computerised draw to ensure a completely impartial allocation of tickets for those sessions.

How can I pay by cheque or postal order?

You must send payment for the maximum total value of your application. If you are not allocated all the tickets you apply for, any difference will be refunded. Cheques and postal orders must be in Pounds Sterling (GBP) and payable from the person whose name is on the accompanying ticket application. Cheques and postal orders must be made payable to Glasgow 2014.

What do the price categories mean?

There are ticket limits for each session. These limits are indicated on the detailed Competition Schedule (pages 62-71) and should not be exceeded in your application. Personal Assistant tickets do not count towards the total number of tickets applied for.

Can I choose a session?

Your application is for tickets in a particular session. This will not apply to you.

Are there any limits on how many tickets I can buy?

There are ticket limits for each session. These limits are indicated on the detailed Competition Schedule (pages 62-71) and should not be exceeded in your application. Personal Assistant tickets do not count towards the total number of tickets applied for.

5. Communicating with ticket applicants and purchasers

5.1 We will normally communicate with ticket applicants and ticket purchasers using the email address given on your ticket application, unless the postal address given on your ticket application will be used. If you have given us any other means of contact we may use this.

5.2 If you wish to communicate with us, we request copies of information or particulars available to you are referred to in these terms, then must do so by email to customerservices@glasgow2014.com, via the consumer advice line at +44 (0)141 204 0404 or by post at Ticketing Department, Glasgow 2014, PO Box 2704, Glasgow, G1 9ED. You should not use other methods of communication or addresses to contact us.

6. Ticket applications

6.1 Completion and submission of a ticket application is an offer to purchase tickets for sessions. We may accept or refuse ticket applications entirely at our discretion.
17. Other terms relating to Games venues

You must comply with all directions given by our personnel and stewards, representatives of the Games venue owners and operators, and the police when at Games venues.

18. Tickets

Tickets provide a right to attend sessions at the Games. You must occupy the seat or area specified on your ticket. You acknowledge that we may, however, relocate you to another seat or area, should we deem this necessary to enable the proper management of sessions.

19. Recording and photography

Images, videos and audio recordings taken or made by you in Games venues with a camera, phone camera, video camera or audio equipment (or any other kind of equipment) may be used by us for any purpose other than for personal and non-commercial purposes. You may not sell, license, broadcast (including on social media sites), publish, or commercially exploit in any manner such images, videos or audio recordings, unless expressly authorised by us.

20. Delay, interruption, rescheduling, postponement and cancellation

20.1 Tickets allow entry to sessions. You acknowledge that sessions may be delayed, interrupted, rescheduled, postponed or cancelled for reasons beyond our control, or to allow for the proper management of the Games. We do not guarantee that any session will commence at its stated time, however we will endeavour to ensure that this is the case. If a session is delayed, interrupted, rescheduled, postponed or cancelled we will not be liable to you for any changes you may have to make to any travel, accommodation or other arrangements.

20.2 If a session is delayed, postponed, cancelled or rescheduled so that it does not take place on the same date set out on a ticket or at the same venue set out on a ticket, we will either refund the face value of that ticket, or (subject to availability) you may exchange that ticket for a ticket for another session, where the ticket price for that session is equal or less than the face value of the ticket to be exchanged. Otherwise no refunds or exchanges will be given as a result of delay, postponement or rescheduling.

20.3 If a session commences on the date and at the venue set out in the ticket and is thereafter interrupted, and it is determined by Glasgow 2014 that it was substantially completed, you will not be eligible for a refund or an exchange of the ticket for another session.

20.4 If a session is cancelled or rescheduled to another date or venue, we will endeavour to notify ticket purchasers using the email address set out in their ticket application. We will also endeavour to make information concerning such cancellation or rescheduling available at tickets.glasgow2014.com. Please note that due to circumstances beyond our control and/or the limitations of our systems, such notification and information may not be provided prior to the anticipated start time of the session. Please check your email and the above website prior to making your journey to a session.

21. Your rights

Nothing in these terms affects your rights under law. For more information upon these rights please consult a lawyer experienced in agreements of this nature, or your local Citizens’ Advice Bureau (or equivalent).

22. Breach of these terms and liability

22.1 If you breach these terms then we shall have the following rights – to evict you from the event; – to remove you from the session which you are attending; – to evict any other ticketholder you have purchased or hold; – to refuse your entry to any session forming part of the Games; and/or – to claim damages from you in respect of your breach of these terms.

22.2 If you breach these terms we may also pass information concerning you to persons responsible for the enforcement of the law, and/or who have an interest in the proper management of the Games. They may use this information to take action against you in relation to your breach.

22.3 If we incur loss, damage, costs or expense due to your breach of these terms or otherwise (for example due to a failure to exercise proper care), then you shall be liable to us for this.

22.4 If you cause any other person to incur loss, damage, costs or expense due to your breach of these terms or otherwise (for example due to a failure to exercise proper care), then you shall be liable to that other person for this.

22.5 We shall not be liable for any loss, damage, costs or expense which is not caused by us. This includes any injury arising from any item leaving the field of play and colliding with you.

22.6 Our service providers (for example the operators of Games venues) shall not be liable for any loss, damage, costs or expense which is not caused by them.

22.7 You shall be solely responsible for ensuring the safety and security of any item you bring to a Games venue. We shall not be liable to you if any such item is lost or stolen.

22.8 If we breach these terms and as a result you cannot attend a session for which you are a ticketholder, our liability to you is limited to refunding the face value of the ticket purchased for that event.

22.9 General

22.1 If we delay or fail to enforce any rights it shall not mean that we have waived our right to do so at any subsequent time.

22.2 If any part of these terms is deemed by a court to be unenforceable, the remainder of the terms shall not be affected.

22.3 These terms shall be construed in accordance with Scottish law and the courts of Scotland shall have exclusive jurisdiction in relation to any matter concerning these terms.
